ABOUT INSTITUTE

Central Ayurveda Research Institute, Jhansi (CARI, Jhansi) established in the year 1973 with a view to conducting a medico-ethno-botanical survey covering two biogeographic zones, viz., Upper Gangetic plain and Central Indian zone. The institute is recently equipped with highly sophisticated instruments for R&D related to QC analysis of ASU drugs. The institute has been awarded NABL accreditation for the QC laboratories. The institute's pharmacy is GMP-certified, holds QMS/ISO-9001-2015 certification, and has an FSSAI license. The institute conducts Ayurvedic pharmaceutical research, drug development, and cultivation of medicinal plants. It also maintains herbarium/drug repositories and provides ASU drug analysis and authentication services.
